

How Grand and How Bright

Arr. Sheila Macbeth

How grand and how bright was that won - der - ful night when the an - gels to
The shep - herds were 'mazed their - lit - tle lambs gazed at the dark - ness thus

How grand and how bright was that won - der - ful night when the an - gels to
The shep - herds were 'mazed their - lit - tle lambs gazed at the dark - ness thus

How grand and how bright was that won - der - ful night when the an - gels to
The shep - herds were 'mazed their - lit - tle lambs gazed at the dark - ness thus

How grand and how bright was that won - der - ful night when the an - gels to
The shep - herds were 'mazed, their - lit - tle lambs gazed at the dark - ness thus

Beth - le - hem came They burst forth like fire and they struck their gold turned in - to light No voice then was heard - from man, beast or

Beth - le - hem came They burst forth like fire and they struck their gold
turned in - to light No voice then was heard - from man, beast or

Beth - le - hem came They burst forth like fire and they struck their gold
turned in - to light No voice then was heard - from man, beast or

Beth - le - hem came They burst forth like fire and they struck their gold
turned in - to light No voice then was heard - from man, beast or

lyres and they min - gled their song with the flame bird So - sud - den and sol - emn the sight

lyres and they min - gled their song with the flame
bird So - sud - den and sol - emn the sight

lyres and they min - gled their song with the flame
bird So - sud - den and sol - emn the sight

lyres and they min - gled their song with the flame
bird So - sud - den and sol - emn the sight