

William Taylor

The image shows two staves of musical notation in G major (one sharp) and 4/4 time. The first staff contains the melody for the first line of the song, and the second staff contains the melody for the second line. The lyrics are written below the notes.

I'll sing a song of — two young lov - ers, and from Lich - field town they came. The young man's name was Will - iam Tay - lor, Sar - ah Gray was the maid - en's name.

William Taylor he has 'listed,
For a soldier he has gone.
He has gone and left his own true lover
For to sigh and for to mourn.

She dressed herself in man's apparel,
Man's apparel she put on;
Then for to seek her own true lover
For to seek him she has gone.

One day as she was exercising,
Exercising with the rest,
A silver chain hung down her waistcoat
And exposed her lily-white breast.

The sergeant-major stepped up to her,
Asking her what brought her there,
"I've come to seek my own true lover
Who has proved to me severe."

"If you've come to seek your own true lover,
I pray you tell to me his name."
"His name it is bold William Taylor,
And from Lichfield town he came."

"If his name be William Taylor,
William Taylor is not here;
He's lately married a rich young lady,
Worth ten thousand pound a year."

"If you rise early in the morning,
Just before the break of day,
Why there you'll find bold William Taylor,
Walking out with his lady gay."

So she rose early in the morning,
Just before the break of day;
And there she spied bold William Taylor
Walking out with his lady gay.

She called for a sword and a pistol,
Which was brought at her command;
She fired and shot bold William Taylor,
With his bride at his right hand.

Then the captain stepped up to her,
Was well pleased at what she'd done.
He took her and made her a bold commander
Over a ship and all his men.

Source: Mrs Timms at Buckland. Collected by Cecil Sharp 6 April 1909.

Notes: Tune only from Mrs Timms. Words from another version.

(c) Gloucestershire Traditions